T. F. RYAN'S TAXES NET $236,074.13

Fee Officers Get $36,343.20 For Their Services in Case

A FULL SETTLEMENT

Largest Single Payment Ever Received By State—More Than Double Cost of New System.

Richmond, May 2—State Auditor Moore received from Treasurer John T. Fitzpatrick, of Nelson County, yesterday a check for $236,074.13 in full payment of back taxes owed to the Commonwealth by Thomas Fortune Ryan, the millionaire New Yorker, who maintains his legal residence in this State. It was the largest single check in the payment of the State taxes of an individual received in the history of the Auditor's office.

The promptness with which the settlement was effected was attributed in large part by State officials yesterday to the limited assessment act of the last General Assembly, which definitely declared the State's policy not to assess for omitted State taxes beyond 1903 and not to allow localities to go beyond the year 1912 in assessing property which had escaped taxation.

Examiner Drummond, of the Twenty-ninth Circuit began work on the Ryan assessments in 1915, after the adjournment of the special session. With the assistance of Attorney John L. Lee, of Lynchburg, he delved far back into the records of the Ryan holdings, assessing for the first time millions of dollars worth of intangibles not previously brought under taxation.

The collection of the Ryan taxes was one of the issues that figured in the legislation of the General Assembly of 1916. It was charged repeatedly that the limited assessment act was framed to protect Mr Ryan and other wealthy citizens against being assessed for omitted intangibles for indeterminate terms. On the other hand, it was pointed out that a law of this kind was essential to the successful application of the tax on intangibles, since if the threat of an indeterminate term assessment was held over the heads of owners of intangibles, these would have every incentive to pursue the policy of concealment. Those who held this view were in the majority and the law was passed.

Although the act will not be in effect until June 18, Mr Ryan has anticipated it, and has made a full settlement with the treasurer of Nelson County. He became a citizen of Virginia in 1904, and was in that year for the first time assessable upon his intangible personal property and income.

The assessments against Mr Ryan for omitted State taxes covering the years 1904 and 1914, inclusive, upon intangible property and income, amounted to $245,025, and the assessment of State taxes against him for the year 1915, on the same subjects, amounted to $56,250, making a total of $301,275.

The total cost of making the assessments was $25,423.57 and the commission paid for collecting the State's taxes was $10,919.63—a total of $36,343.20 which the Commonwealth paid out to collect $301,275 from Mr Ryan in omitted taxes. The net revenue to the State from the whole proceedings is $264,931.80. With the exception of that portion which by law is devoted to the payment of pensions, the entire amount will be applied to the support of the public free schools.

In addition to paying this sum to the State, Mr. Ryan, under the same settlement, paid to Nelson County omitted taxes amounting to $100,125, covering the local assessments on omitted intangible personal property and intangibles for 1912, 1913 and 1914. Examiner Drummond's commissions for collecting the State taxes amounted to $20,649.42. Mr. Lee's compensation will come from this amount, and is a matter entirely between himself and Mr. Drummond.

The Tax Commission of 1910 cost the State $6,984.51. The expenses of the Advisory Board on Taxation, created by the General Assembly of 1915, chargeable to the State, amounted to $27,273.98. The special session of 1915, called for the sole purpose of considering tax legislation, entailed a cost of $74,786.62. Altogether, therefore, the State spent $109,045.11 in furthering the tax reform program.

From these figures it appears that the State of Virginia recovered from Mr Ryan alone more than twice as much as is spent in establishing a better tax system.

TORPEDO MISSES LINER

Patria, French Passenger Ship Escapes U-boat Attack Second Time.

New York, May 2. —The French passenger steamer Patria, which arrived yesterday from Naples and Palermo, reported that on her last outward voyage, at 10 o'clock in the morning of April 5, she was the target of a submarine torpedo attack in the Mediterranean. The torpedo missed the ship by about 10 feet. the officers said.

The Patria was passing Cape Spartavento, the southerly part of Sardinia, at full speed. The submarine did not show itself, the officers said, and no periscope was seen, but the torpedo's wake was visible and was follower after it passed the ship. Many passengers told the officers they also saw the torpedo's wake.

The Patria was not then armed, but a gun was placed on her afterdeck when she arrived in Naples, and it was ready for action during the voyage finished yesterday.

RESENTS TAR AND FEATHERS

Victim to Begin Action Against Alleged Members of Mob.

Mount Vernon, O, May 2 Samuel Clark, a Jackson township farmer, who was tared and feathered Sunday morning, declares he will swear out warrants for the arrest of several men whom he believes responsible for the tarring.

Clark, who is 56 years old, is in a serious condition. Turpentine applied to remove the heavy coat of tar has made his flesh raw all over his body.

Clark believes neighbors with whom he had trouble are responsible for the affair. He was called to the door of his home in his night clothes. early in the morning seized, rolled in tar and feathers applied. He said he had received a letter warning him to leave the vicinity in 10 days or he would be killed. "I am going to stay," Clark said, "and I am going to fortify my house to withstand a seige, if necessary."

TWO MILLON ON A STRIKE

Labor Day Marked by Tremendous Walkouts in the Country

100,000 IN A PARADE

Strike of Marine Engineers Ties Up Shipping and Delays Shipments of Munitions.

New York, May 2—The greatest strike of laboring men in the history of the United States was inaugurated yesterday morning, when approximately 2,000,000 union workmen throughout the country quit work for higher wages, better working conditions and recognition of their union, or were locked out by employers.

May day parades were also generally held in the various cities of the United States. In New York city labor leaders made it the greatest parade on record. It is estimated that 100,000 workers marched in the parade up Fifth avenue.

Red roses as a badge to designate both marchers and their sympathizers of the "side lines" were much in evidence.

Large placards and signs were scattered throughout the procession. The signs were printed in three languages English, Yiddish and Italian, on oilcloth measuring about three by four feet. Some of these read:

"The bosses don't want us to be human. They want us to be angels. Angels don't eat."

"The bosses promise individual agreements to individual workers, but not one agreement to all workers. There's a reason."

"We demand justice for the persecuted peoples of the world."

Three anarchists were arrested during a demonstration at Columbia Park. They were charged with distributing circulars attacking the Government. There was also some disorder when the police took a red flag away from a color bearer who attempted to bear it aloft through the street.

While these demonstrations were being made it was estimated by union labor delegates that more than 145,000 workers involved in strikes throughout the city in various trades and at least 50,000 more would be idle within a day or two unless their demands were conceded.

The strike of marine engineers precipitated the most serious tie-up of harbor shipping that has menaced the city in years. When the 4,000 engineers refused to man the 700 tugs alongside the river, shipping men admitted they faced a grave situation. The entire munitions trade was tied up and it was predicted that the trans Atlantic service would be handicapped as liners could not get tugs to take them to their docks.

Later in the day 1,000 warehousemen employed by the New York Dock Company, in Brooklyn, quit work.

There are 50,000 workers out in Pittsburgh, including 30,000 workers at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company's plant, 5,000 at the Westinghouse Machine Company, 5,000 at the Pittsburgh Meter Company and the Union Switch and Signal Company and 3,100 trolley employes. It is feared this strike will spread to machine shops throughout the Middle West.

Boston has a combination marine engineers, 'longshoremen and warehousemen's strike to contend with. Estimates of the number either striking or thrown out of work approximate 200,000 men and women.

Wilmington, Del., May 2—The inauguration yesterday by the Building Trades Council of the "Closed shop" principle was marked by two strikes, electricians employed by the Garrett-Miller Company and the Truax Electric Company going out.

Pittsburgh, Mal 2—Angered because workmen refused to join their ranks, 5000 striking employees of the Westinghouse plants forcibly entered the mills of four big steel companies in Rankin and Braddock yesterday, attacked employees and caused property damage amounting to several hundred dollars.

One rioter was arrested, but hundreds of strikers attacked the police with stones and rescued the prisoner. The rioting lasted three hours, and was the most serious that has occurred since the strike began.

The plants entered by the striking were those of the Edgar Thompson Works, of the Carnegie Steel Company; the American Steel and Wire Company, the McClintic-Marshall Construction Company and the Standard Chain Works.

The disturbance followed a parade of 5000 strikers from East Pittsbugh, Going to the plant of the Edgar Thompson Works, in North Braddock, the marchers battered down heavy iron gates at one of the entrances, and, sweeping 10 policemen, who were guarding the entrance, before them, forced their way into the plant.

Other strikers blockaded the tracks of the Pittsburgh and Ohio Railroads Railway detectives tried to dislodge them; but they resisted, tying up all traffic for nearly 30 minutes on both roads.

Crying, "Eight hours a day," the strikers rushed through the plant, attacking several workmen. When the men refused to join them the strikers went to the McClintic-Marshal plant. Battering open a gate, they rushed into the works, destroyed large belts, damaged machinery and upset paint over the floors in the paint department.

W. B. DOAK'S POSITION.

In reference to a statement published several days ago W. B. Doak, of Clifton Station, Va., called at the Gazette office today and made the following statement:

"That I made any offensive remarks, either to or about the President, I deny absolutely. On the contrary I have just taken pains to approve his idea of a volunteer army, volunteering myself for cavalry service in Mexico. I confess, we farmers, were feeling sore over the Senate having taken up and passed the Shields water power bill ahead of the Hollin Farm Loan Association bill, the latter having been reported out of committee in January and on the calendar for March 21st.

"My statement was that if the present congress adjourned, as did the last, without passing a substantial rural credit bill, according to platform and promise, I propose to denounce the Democratic party in every district of Virginia for its betrayal of the agricultural interests."

TRIED TO BURN DUBLIN CASTLE

Irish Insurrectionists Are Now Rushing to Surrender

ULSTER IS NOW QUIET

Three-Day President of "Irish Republic" Shot in Leg—Sniper Caught in Chimney.

London, May 2—According to British official reports the Irish rebels are now falling over each other in their wish to surrender. For the third time it was officially announced yesterday that the Sinn Fein leaders had surrendered unconditionally.

All the rebels in Dublin have surrendered, and those in the country districts are doing likewise, according to an official statement issued this evening.

There were 1,000 prisoners in Dublin yesterday, of whom 489 were sent to England Sunday night.

It is reported from Queenstown that hopes were entertained that arms would be landed in the city of Cork.

Wicklow, Arklow, Dunlavin, Bagenalstown and New Ross, and the counties of Cork, Clare, Limerick and Kerry are generally quiet. The whole of Ulster is quiet.

The Enniscorthy rebels have unconditionally surrendered, it was officially announced last night. One thousand prisoners were taken in Dublin yesterday, the announcement added.

The Irish commandant, J. H. Pearce, who is now a prisoner in Dublin, is a schoolmaster. He was wounded by a shot in the leg. Before being captured he took a most active part in the uprising and was looked to as the head of the movement.

The Dublin postoffice, which was in the hands of the rebels most of the week, when retaken was found to have been badly damaged by fire and shot.

Reports from the provincal districts show that the greatest disturbances outside the city occurred in County Meath, where armed rebels in parties were still terrorizing the country side Sunday. In other districts there were disorders. At one place north of Dublin a small detachment of the Royal Irish constabulary commanded by an inspector, was surrounded by rebels and disarmed. It is not known whether the rebels held the policemen prisoners, but it is assumed they did. The authorities there wired to Dublin for reinforcements, which were dispatched in armed automobiles. Over the rest of the country all was quiet except at Enniscourthy and Wexford.

Many of the prisoners were captured redhanded with weapons. Hundreds of others are being detained on suspicion of complicity in the outbreak. One man was caught in a chimney from which he had been sniping for four days and nights. He held a position of trust in the office of a steamship company.

The casualties up to the present are said to be very numerous although the troops have not suffered as heavily as might have been expected from the nature of the fighting. Their work of clearing houses from cellar to roof is very risky but they go on without hesitation. The rebels suffered severely and hundreds of peaceful citizens were killed or wounded by them.

STRIKERS RUN FERRY LINE.

Union Employes of Washington-Virginia Company Start Rival Water Service.

The little river steamer Volunteer was enlisted yesterday to aid the striking employes of the Washington-Virginia Railway Company. The striking employes now are fighting the company both on land and water. They have a "jitney bus service" running on land and a "naval bus service" running on water.

The steamer, which has been used in every form of service—passenger, freight and ferry—on the Potomac River for the past few years, has been chartered by the employes and placed in service between Washington and Alexandria. When it left its dock at Alexandria at 7 o'clock yesterday morning it carried more than 100 strike sympathizers. Last night it returned nearly double that number to Alexandria. The vessel is owned by the Potomac and Chesapeake Steamboat Company.

These passengers are union employes living in Alexandria, but working in Washington. A majority are employed at the navy yard. Persons living between Alexandria and Washington are being urged by the strikers to patronize the steam lines in preference to the electric lines.

The little "bus" now makes two trips a day. It leaves Alexandria at 7 o'clock in the morning and Washington on the return trip at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Members of the committee yesterday stated that if patronage warrants, a second and even a third round trip will be added.

SUICIDE OF CAPTAIN

Terrible Sufferings of Crew of British Ship Suffolk

Halifax, N. S., May 2.—The fate of the captain and crew of the British steamship Suffolk, caught in the ice in the White Sea, while on her way to Archangel shortly before Christmas with details of suffering from cold, hunger and exposure resulting in the death of all but three men of a crew of 27, and the suicide of the ship's captain, who, maddened by hunger and cold, shot hiself, were related here today by the sailors of the Newfoundland steamer Bellaventure, just in from Archangel.

The crew of the Bellaventure, which has been in Russian waters for more than a year, met and talked with the three survivors, only one of whom, a Russian Finn, was physically able to recount his adventures. The other two were not expected to recover.

The Suffolk, supposedly having a cargo of war supplies, was caught in the ice of the White Sea, with the first heavy freeze, before the holidays. Heavy weather followed, the Russian Finn, said, and finally not only food, but fuel to keep the men from freezing was exhausted. The suffering caused many of the men to lose their minds and while in this state they succumbed. The ship's captain, crazed by the suffering of his men, whom he was unable to aid, and himself, exhausted and worn, committed suicide.

When only 10 survivors remained they decided to try to reach land on foot. Taking the scanty provisions remaining set forth on an 80-mile trip across the ice. A heavy blizzard set in and the party soon became scattered and lost. Only three were able to stick together, and after days of wandering they were found by the crew of a British ship and taken to land.

The Suffolk, a ship of 4,854 tons was last reported in maritime records, as leaving Townsville, Australia, November 18 last for Bowen, Austria.

GERMAN MASSES MOWED DOWN

Violent Night Attacks on Dead Man's Hill Are Repulsed

FRENCH BAG AIRCRAFT

Russians Recapture of Their Lost Positions in Lake Regions, Admitted by Austria.

Paris, May 2—In the most successful offensive blows delivered by General Petain since the crown prince launched the Verdun offensive, French troops late yesterday captured 550 yards of German trenches southeast of Fort Dauaumont.

The war office also announces that in the successful attacks against the German positions on the slopes of and Sunday, the French captured 1,000 yards of German trenches to a depth of from 300 to 600 yards.

No official news from the Verdun front since the beginning of the crown prince's offensive has aroused such enthusiasm in Paris as the publication of today's communique.

The official statement is taken to mean, not only that the German drive has been definitely checked, despite repeated German assaults on Sunday, but that the offensive has definitely passed to the French armies, which are pushing back the German lines.

Paris, May 2—German troops in dense masses made a violent attack Sunday night on positions captured by the French north of Dead Man's Hill, on the Verdun front. The attack was defeated by the French, the War Office reports. The Germans, the announcement states, sufered "enormous losses."

Two simultaneous counter-attacks by the Germans on a trench captured Sunday by the French north of Cuoieres were repulsed. At Hill 304 and in the Vaux region there were inressant bombardments.

A French aerial squadron bombarded a supply and munition station south of Thiaucourt, and a camp near Spincourt.

Berlin, May 2—The Russians have regained by a counter attack positions north of Mlyov which they had lost to the Austrians, it was announced in the Austro-Hungarian headquarters statement of April 30 received here from Vienna. More than 200 prisoners were taken by the Austrian forces in the engagement April 28, when the Russian lines were penetrated.

VERDICT SET ASIDE

Appellate Tribunal Finds Error in Judgment Against Washington Southern Railway Co

The District of Columbia Court of Appeals yesterday set aside a verdict for $10,000 damages awarded in the District Supreme Court to Oliver H. Smith, Jr., against the Washington Southern Railway Company for personal injury received while coupling an engine and car in Potomac yards. The suit was under the employers liability act. The opinion of the appellate court was rendered by Justice Van Orsdel. Justice Robb filed a dissenting opinion.

The majority opinion of the court holds that the trial justice erred in submitting the case to the jury and says that he should have granted the company's motion for an instructed verdict in its favor. It is pointed out that no negligence is proved against the company, and the court suggests that if the rule of assumption of risk ever is to be applied it would seem to constitute a complete defense in this case. "The work of a railroad brakeman is at best hazardous business," says the court, "and when one engages in this employment he assumes the risks incident to the business.'

In his dissenting opinion Justice Robb declares his conviction that a grave injustice is being done the brakeman by the setting aside of the verdict. The defendant offered no evidence, but stood on the legal proposition that it was entitled to a direct verdict. Justice Robb points out that the jury of twelve presumably reasonable men accepted the evidence and awarded damages at $10,000, yet he says "two judges of this court now say that this evidence so clearly falls short of proving negligence that reasonable men ought not to differ about it, and therefore arbitrarily deprive this plaintiff of his constitutional right to a trial by jury."

A petition signed by several hundred colored residents requesting the board to construct a new school building for the accommodation of colored boys and girls was received. The petition was referred to the committee on schoolhouses and furniture, who will consider the matter during the summer recess. It was generally agreed that the time had come when new accommodations should be provided for the colored children as the Snowden building had been destroyed by fire recently and Hallowell building had outlived its day of usefulness and is always inviting repairs.

Much business of a general nature was transacted.

"PHYSICIAN, HEAL THYSELF."

Periodically movements are launched in the United States having for their object the evangelization of the world. An organzation with this great desideratum in view gathered in Washington a few days ago, and addresses were made by men, animated by the best motives, in which they showed, to their own satisfaction, the feasability of their dreams. It is supposed that when all the savage and illiterate countries have heard the Gospel that the Millennium will necessarily follow.

Nature is redivivant on the first day of May. The birds have returned, the fields are being carpeted in green, May pole dances are held by the young, and there is joy in the air.

In the midst of all this innocent mirth it is to be regretted that May 1st. is in our day and generation observed in honor of the God of Discord, when thousands of the discontented of this world lay aside their weapons of peaceful industry and march in procession through the streets of our great cities, some times with red flags, emblems of revolution, menacing those who conscientiously cannot look at things through their lenses.

Is there not enough in our own land to absorb the attention of thinking people and should they not keep their eyes upon home conditions instead of playing the part of Mrs. Jellyby, whose eyes and mind were never off darkest Africa, while her own house was being neglected? Should it not be patent to all that we must live in the letter and spirit of the Gospel ourselves before we attempt to teach others?

When Christopher Columbus reached San Salvador he and his ships' crews saw nude aborigines who never heard of the Gospel, but they were living in the spirit of it. They were far more innocent than their Spanish visitors. Those who have read the early history of this country have been struck with the attentions shown by the natives to the Spaniards, so much so that their courtesies often bordered on annoyance. The Spaniards took advantage of their innocence and many dark deeds of injustice were perpetrated upon the unsuspecting Indians, as they were called.

There are Augean stables in our own land which need the service of a Hercules.

ANOTHER FAILURE.

The latest revolt in Ireland, as has generally been the case, was shortlived. Like a summer thunder storm, it was for a brief period furious, but the clouds soon emptied themselves and quiet now reigns where a few days ago rioting and bloodshed were in evidence.

Most people in the United States regret the fact that relations between Ireland and the Great Britain have never been amicable. It is unfortunate that such conditions exist. They have long been chronic, and wounds suffered in bygone years have healed falsely, as will be the case with those sustained during the past week.

While most people in this country, sympathize with Erin, there are facts connected with this latest attempt upon the part of the Irish to throw off the English yoke which are not commendable, and the seizure of the present opportunity to obtain by force what it is likely will be conceded later is not to be approved. Besides an apostate noldeman was the fomentor of the discord, while a pact was made with Germany, a nation which is fighting fiercely to destroy the British lion.

Ireland will doubtless get home rule sooner or later. After the war there is every reason to believe England will do everything possible to cement a good feeling between Englishmen and Irishmen, members of which countries are now fighting side by side in France.

This latest revolution was ill-timed, ill-planned and premature, and its failure was inevitable.

BISECTING TURKEY.

A contemporary suggests that as a blow to British prestige there is no use in trying to minimize the surrender of Kut-el-Amara, but as a military event it is absolutely insignificant in comparison with a couple of lines in the Russian official bulletin announcing that near Diarbekir the Russians had driven in the Turkish outposts.

The distance of Diarbekir from the Bagdad Railroad, which is commented on in some of the stories, is a matter of no consequence. The allies have full command of the Mediterranean, and at Adana and east of that city the Bagdad Railroad comes within a few miles of the sea.

The Russian army near Diarbekir is half way from the Caucasus to the Mediterranean. In other words, it has cut its way half across the Turkish Empire, amputating the Syrian and Mesopotamian regions from Asia Minor. In three months of mid-winter the Russian force has advanced 240 miles through deep snows and over high mountains. How long will it take to traverse the remaining 240 miles of comparatively open country in the latter part of spring?

The Turkish forces at Bagdad and the forces in Syria, or near the Suez Canal, of whose reality there is some doubt, are likely in a few weeks to be cut off from Constantinople and all Asia Minor by a Russian swath cut, broadly seaking, from the eastern end of the Black Sea to the northeast corner of the Mediterranean.

The Russians could not move fast enough through the mountains in mid-winter to avert the surrender of Gen. Townshend, but they are moving quite fast enough to make the complete bi-section of Turkey a highly probable, if not, indeed, an absolutely certain, event of the next few weeks.

RISE AND FALL OF A REPUBLIC

(Baltimore American).

Were the matter not so tragic in its insanity and lack of success, the rise and fall of the Irish republic would furnish a fund of irresistible amusing comment. But as matters are, with possibly hundreds of lives sacrificed and the flag of the overnight republic hauled down and peace sued for by the leaders of the madmen's revolt, the situation is not one for levity. Mr. Redmond echoes the sentiment of all sane Irishmen when he declares that the revolt was aimed more at home rule than at England. It was a revolt against the measure of justice and autonomous government for which the Irish have been striving for generations and the attainment of which was a cause for wide jubilation.

The rise and fall of the Irish republic will never command the genius and labor of a Gibbon, as it will stand out as a crazy, chimerical enterprise. The nearest approach to it was the John Brown raid in this country. But that was immeasurably more potent and significant—wild as was the raid itself. That the leaders of the Irish revolt reckoned without their host is not of itself remarkable. One is reminded of the mistake of the illustrious English historian, Freeman, who, during the course of the Civil War in this country, undertook to write a history of the United States down to the dissolution of the federal tie. Freeman's literary labors in this direction are now a curiosity of literature.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Ethel Lorraine Belmont yesterday afternoon in New York was granted a divorce from Raymond Belmont, second son of August Belmont, the banker. The former show girl charged misconduct.

Charles H. Hibbert, an old Washington merchant, committed suicide some time last night by hanging himself to the rafters in the basement under his glove store at 606 Eleventh street northwest.

By a vote of 213 to 165, the House of Representatives last night sounded the knell of Philippine independence, for the present at least, by rejecting the Clarke amendment providing that the islands be turned loose within four years.

Fire, originating in a wooden livery barn at Raleigh, N. C., at 1 o'clock this morning, got beyond control of the firemen and swept the business section of this city. The Job P. Wyatt hardware establishment is in ruins and other large buildings were threatened.

Andrew J. Graham prominent in banking and political circles in Chicago, died yesterday at his home in Washington Boulevard. He was made sick by eating of the soup prepared by Jean Crones to be served at the University Club banquet tendered Archbishop Mundlein.

Ten persons were injured in a rear-end collision on the Brookland line of the Washington Railway and Electric Company at North Capitol and R streets shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. A score of persons suffered minor cuts from flying glass and bruises. Both cars on the Brookland line were southbound, and loaded practically to capacity with office workers.

Attracted by the inactivity about the farm of John Wychopen, near Holland, Tex., Sunday neighbors forced an entrance to the family dwelling, and found Mrs. Wychopen and her five children dead and Wychopen probably mortally wounded. According to the verdict of a coroner's jury, Wychopen shot and killed his wife and children, ranging in age from an infant to 12 years, and fired a bullet into his own head. The motive for the deed could not be ascertained.

A great battle is imminent in Armenia. The Russians are determined to clear the path to Angora and eventually to the Golden Horn. One hundred thousand Turks have been brought up to defend Erzingan, commanding the roads west. A conflict of a decisive character, in which the Russians hope to smash Turkish resistance in Armenia, is believed to be only a matter of hours.

Twenty distinct shocks occurred yesterday at San Jose, Costa Rica, while the people of the capital were in the midst of the first of May festival. A number of buildings, including churches and schools, were demolished. The people fled to the street and squares, fearing the city was about to be destroyed.

Plunging into the torrent of the Niagara river, 20 feet above the cataract, tow by-standers prevented Florence O'Neil, a 21 year old Tonawanda girl, from committing suicide yesterday afternoon. The young woman walked into the river opposite Luna Island, on the Government reservation and resisted the efforts of her rescuers, who finally succeeded in bringing her to safety. The girl was placed under arrest.

Six thousand troops reached Torreon yesterday evening en route to Chihuahua City. Gen. Francisco Gonzales was in command. Mexican officers in Juarez received this information today: "The war spirit is reported to be blazing among de facto government troops in the Torreon district. They learned late today that the United States had refused Gen. Obregon's demand for the withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's column."

While the district presidents of the anthracite coal miners were placing their stamp of approval on the contract which will give a substantial wage increase and an eight-hour day to 176,000 miners in the anthracite coal fields, yesterday the operators permitted the announcement to go forth that the price of coal will be raised sufficiently to wipe out, so far as they are concerned, the extra $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 that will have to be expended under the new contract in wages.

In neck-and-neck races in both the Democratic and Republican parties' primaries in Maryland yesterday, Congressman David J. Lewis was nominated for United States Senator by the Democrats and Dr. Joseph Irwin France by the Republicans. At midnight Mr. Lewis had 76 votes in the convention, having carried 14 counties and the Fourth Legislative district of Baltimore city. Sixty-five votes are a majority in the convention. At the same hour Dr. France had 68 votes in the Republican convention, three more than a majority.

David Lamar, known as the "Wolf of Wall Street," will have to go to a Federal prison soon to serve for two years for the crime of impersonating an officer of the government with intent to defraud. The case came to a conclusion finally yesterday when Chief Justice White read the opinion of the court, unanimously reached, that Lamar's conviction under the indictment returned in the Federal court for the southern district of New York should be affirmed. This apparently exhausts the legal remedies open to the accused, and his actual incarceration waits only upon the issuance of the mandate by the high court directing the marshal to take him into custody and escort him to prison.

President Wilson, speaking at the opening of the National Service School training camp for women, at Chevy Chase yesterday, said: "God forbid that the United States should be drawn into war," but if she should be America would shake herself out of a dream and say to any one who doubts the spirit of the New World that she still speaks the voice of humanity." The President spoke before several thousand men and women in the open in the midst of the encampment, where young women are learning the rudiments of military life. He asserted his belief that if the test came Americans would rally together to the defense of the principles for which the nation has stood since its birth.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Twenty persons were slightly injured last night when Norfolk and Western pasenger train No 2 struck a broken rail and was wrecked seven miles south of Natural Bridge, A pullman car, diner and two day coaches were hurled down an embankment but sustained little damage.

W. E. Tarpley, a county constable was shot and seriously injured Sunday at Shockoe, while attempting to arrest Joseph Eckols, a paroled penitentiary convict, and fugitive from justice. Tarpley received a load of buck-shot in his head and face, after he entered Eckols's home with the intention of recapturing him.

The badly mangled body of a white man was found on the tracks of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad on Sunday morning, about a mile north of Milford Station. It appeared from papers in the pockets that the man was J. R. White, of North Carolina, He also had in his pockets $12 and appeared to be about 35 years old.

Rear Admiral A. C. Dillingham, United States Navy, retired, who is a resident of Norfolk, has applied to the Navy Department for permission to become a candidate for election to Congress from the Norfolk district of Virginia, without prejudice to his naval status. He explains that his main object in entering the campaign is to endeavor to promote the development of the naval station at Norfolk and make that city one of the greatest ports in the United States.

Bishop John C. Kilgo, will preside over the session of the Virginia Conference to be held in Richmond next November, He will also preside over the North Carolina and the Western North Carolina Conference. Bishop Hoss will preside over the Baltimore Conference, Bishop Candler over the Upper South Carolina Conference and Bishop Atkins over the South Carolina Conference. This will be third time that Bishop Kilgo has presided over the Virginia Conference, having presided at the conference held at Salisbury and at Portsmouth.

R. F. Brooks, 21 years old, is in jail in Danville, charged with shooting and killing Jerry Hughes, colored, late Sunday night, in the lower part of the city. Brooks had a quarrel with Hughes and they nearly came to blows. At 10 o'clock Sunday night the white man found Hughes assaulting an aged negress named Sallie Vassar, it is stated. The quarrel was reopened, Hughes resenting Brooks's interfering. Brooks drew a revolver and fired five shots point-blank at Hughes, it is alleged. One of the bullets, probably the first fired, struck the negro in the back, his coat showing signs of powder burns. Hughes was conveyed in a dying condition to the hospital, where it was found that one of the bullets had struck him close to the heart. He died within an hour.

Mrs. Lizzie Creamor, 40 years old living near Portsmouth, is a patient in the county jail hospital, suffering from a number of severe stab wounds and her husband, Robert Creamer is locked up on a charge of having assaulted and cut her. The assault, according to the woman, took place last Saturday night, and she lay in an open field until Sunday morning, when a man found her lying beside a path.

The woman's left ear was nearly severed from her head, and had to be sewed back in position when she was brought to the jail. A knife wound, two inches long was in her cheek, another in her scalp, and there were numerous cuts and scratches about her body which looked as if she had been thrown against a wire fence. The husband was arrested.

The Rockbridge county Democratic convention was held yesterday at Lexington and delegates selected to the State Democratic convention to be held in Roanoke June 2. Congressman H. D. Flood, of this county, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives, addressed the convention. He spoke of the work done by President Wilson and the Democratic Administration. Resolutions indorsing President Wilso nand Representative Flood were adopted.

Today begins the new merchants' license year, subject, after June 18, to the purchase recordation amendment approved by the last General Assembly. The license year begins May 1 and ends April 30, 1917. Although the merchants' lobby at the last Legislature was powerful enough to prevent any increase in the rate of taxation on purchases, the Commonwealth will make the best of the single significant amendment that ran the gauntlet—the section requiring merchants to keep an accurate list of their purchases and to return such purchases, under oath, as the basis for the license tax.

CHICAGO TEACHERS WIN

Court Rules They Can't Be Ousted For Joining Federation.

Chicago, May 2.—School teachers of Chicago triumphed in their fight against the rule barring them from membership in the Chicago Teachers' Federation in the appellate court yesterday. The upper court affirmed the decision of Judge Denis E. Sullivan, of the Superior Court, which issued a temporary injunction against the Board of Education restraining it from enforcing the rule and denied the motion to dissolve the injunction.

The court quoted decisions setting forth that any Board of Education rule restricting teachers employed to members of any particular societies or unions would be void.

"It follows logically," the Court said, "that a rule which restricts employment to nonmembers of such societies also is void."

Banjamin H. Melton, jr., son of Rev. B. H. Melton, died in Richmond Sunday night. The lad was eleven years old. He was struck by an automobile early Saturday afternoon, after a ball game.

DOCTORS AGREE.

All doctors agree that apples are much more palatable than the pills which mother frequently passes around to the boys and girls at bedtime, really cost much less money and answer the same purpose. The old saying, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," contains more truth than poetry. The apple is not only a health giver, a highly efficient food, but it is also a mighty effective remedy for "what ails you." Don't take a pill; take an apple.

APPLE PUDDING NO. 2.

1 cupful of stale breadcrumbs, 1 pint of hot milk, 1 tablespoonful of butter, 1 cupful of sugar, 1 saltspoonful of salt, 1 saltspoonful of spice, 2 eggs, 2 cupfuls of chopped apples.

Soak breadcrumbs in milk. Add butter, sugar, salt and spice. When cool, add eggs, well beaten, and chopped apple. Turn into a buttered baking mold and steam two hours.

TURKS FEAST TEUTONS

Ottoman Foreign Minister Blames Russia for War.

Berlin, May 2—The following account of the banquet given in Constantinople Sunday night by members of the Committee of Union and Progress in the Turkish Parliament for a party of Deputies from the German Reichstag has been issued:

"The Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs, Halil Bey, delivered an address of welcome. He stated that the war originated with Russia, which desired to conquer the Dardanelles. Russia was encouraged by Great Britain and thus dared to fight for possession of the straits for a free entrance to the Mediterranean.

"In the Duma, M. Sazanoff, the Foreign Minister, announced that the historic moment for Russia had come to enable her to obtain free access to the seas. Russia's political leaders and newspapers, Halil Bey continued, seconded this declaration and asserted that possession of the straits was a political necessity to Rusia.

"The British Prime Minister gave assurance that Russias desire ought to be accepted.

"This unanimous declaration discloses that the plan was sanctioned by treaty between these nations. England formerly had led the European nations against France but now she joined her forces with France and others in order to eliminate her young powerful German rival.

"The alliance with Japan was for England's protection against Russian expansion in Asia. This enabled England to make concessions to Russia at Turkey's expense.

"When the war began England and France suggested that Turkey come to an understanding by which the integrity of Turkish territory knew that the aim of the Russians was the conquest of the Dardanelles; that France was waiting for Turkey's downfall and that a treaty with the Ententes meant nothing but oppression by tutelage.

"Germany suggested an alliance on the basis of equal rights for both countries and mutual assistance in case of danger. The Sultan and the Turkish nation accepted the German proposition and escaped the tutelage of foreigners.

"Germany kept her word and drafted a convention with Turkey giving to Turkey's consular offices in Germany the same rights as those given to Germany in Turkey, and regulating the questions of jurisdiction over residence in both countries on the basis of equality.

"Halil Bey announced that these negotiations had virtually been concluded and that the treaties would be ratified in the near future. He insisted that the treaties were founded on mutual respect of rights and sovereignty.

"Count Wolff-Metternich, the German Ambassador, replying to the Turkish Foreign Minister, said that both countries were desirous of a peace which guaranteed the existence and future of the nation. Germany's desire, he said, was to see Turkey strong, standing on her own legs and maintaining not only now, but also in the future, the valuable and faithful alliance.

"Germany, therefore, the Ambassador said, asked for no domains in which her interests were to be considered as paramount, nor did she want any position which conicted with the dignity and independence of Turkey."

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED

Murdered in Automobile by an Admirer

Lexington, Ky, May 2—Miss Lula Blanton was shot and instantly killed near Fleming Sunday night when the automobile in which she and three friends were riding was halted. James Thompson, an electrician of Middlesboro, who came to the coal fields several months ago, is in jail at Whitesburg, waiting an examining trial.

Shortly before the shooting Miss Blanton and Thompson were together at a hotel in Neon. Thompson has been very attentive to Miss Blanton since he came to the coal fields. Thompson left the hotel first Sunday night and soon after he had gone Miss Blanton and three other friends started for an automobile ride, going toward Fleming. The machine was halted on the way, occupants said, and a man walked within a few paces of the car, took aim with a pistol, and fired.

The bullet from a 32-caliber automatic pistol hit Miss Blanton's neck, ranged upward, and lodged in the cap she was wearing where it was found later. Death resulted instantly. Miss May Cook, a friend of the dead girl, who was in the automobile became hysterical when her companion was killed, pitched forward out of the car and narrowly escaped serious injury.
